An imagined instrument on paper

Which design choices would need checking before claiming a particular sound?

My design and aim

Label the sound-producing part and one intended effect.

A conditional prediction

Write what might change and the conditions you assumed.

What stays unknown

Separate pitch, loudness and timbre questions.

Evidence I would need

Plan a controlled check without inventing observations.

Keep it, change it or leave it here. Sharing is optional.