Read an invented friction comparison

Which variables need controlling before a surface comparison is useful?

My model conditions

List the conditions the comparison assumes are unchanged.

The fictional table

Copy each entry and label both the invented status and N unit.

My calculation

Calculate the two means and their difference, or check the supplied working.

What remains unchecked

Name one real measurement or control the table cannot establish.

Keep it, change it or leave it here. Sharing is optional.